RUSSIA RAPS U.S. ON PEACE NOTE

Hoover Discusses Problems Of Nation In Annual Message To Congress

SOVIETS IN WARNING DEFY

MOSCOW, Dec. 3.—UP.—The Soviet government sent identical notes to the United States, Great Britain and France tonight rejecting those governmental warnings against China under terms of the Kellogg Anti-War pact.

The Soviet notes assert that in view of impending direct negotiations with Mukden for settlement of the Chinese Eastern railway dispute, the warnings constitute "an entirely unjustified pressure which cannot be considered as a friendly act."

The Soviet government stated emphatically that the conflict could only be settled by direct negotiations on the basis of the Soviet minimum conditions already accepted by Mukden, and that moreover the Soviet union would not permit interference by outside powers.

Defies Entire World

The Soviet government said it did not admit the right of any single country or group of countries to assume the functions of "protectors of the Paris (Kellogg) treaty" of which Russia and China are signatories.

The minimum conditions referred to are: restoration of the status quo of the railway including joint control; reinstatement of the Soviet manager and assistant manager and release of Soviet prisoners in Manchuria.

The Soviet note to the United States carried an additional section expressing astonishment that

FORD MOTORS INCREASING PAY OF ALL EMPLOYEES

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 3.—UP.—The Ford Motor company payroll was increased $20,000,000 annually today.

Minimum wage for regular workers was raised from $6 to $7 a day while thousands of skilled employees at higher salaries received five percent increases in accordance with Henry Ford's announcement of a week ago that the Ford Motor company would boost its wage scale in accordance with the Hoover prosperity program.

The salary increases effective Dec. 1 will cost the Ford Motor company approximately $1,628,000 a month on the basis of the October payroll of 144,990 men. When spring production gets under way, officials estimated that approximately 180,000 men would be affected.

Excellent Outlook

"We are able to make this wage increase partly because of anticipated economies and the great volume of production which we have had over a period of months and partly because of our excellent outlook for next year," said the statement by Edsel Ford, president.

"Lately we passed on the benefit of some of our economies to our customers in the form of reduced prices on our cars and now we share with our workmen."

"It is our constant policy to do these things. Wage increases cannot be collected from the public, nor can they be taken out of the quality of the product; they have to be made up by better management of the work."

West Affected

Ford western assembly plant payrolls for August, 1929, showing distribution of the men affected by the increase, follow:

Los Angeles: 1909; Portland: 446; Salt Lake City: 58; San Francisco: 1293; Seattle: 976.

Workers in Ford coal mines, railroads and other subsidiary industries also will be affected.

The action today marked the third major salary increase since the Ford company started building automobiles in tremendous volume.

RAIN STORM NEARS COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—UP.—Reports of heavy rain approaching the Pacific coast caused rejoicing by farmers, ranchers and dust choked inhabitants of cities in central California to night.

The Weather Bureau issued a prediction, awaited since last July, that the parched land of the territory and thirsty livestock would have relief Thursday or Friday.

A heavy precipitation this week end would be just in time to prevent a serious situation. Effects of the drought, which has existed more than four months, had not been regarded as "alarming" by experts and there has been no curtailment of power in the region.

CONDITION OF COUNTRY GOOD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(UP)—President Hoover laid before Congress today one of the most comprehensive programs ever submitted by an executive, covering virtually every problem facing the country and including an extensive report of the "State of the Union," which he found generally satisfactory.

The annual message, the first submitted by Hoover, was well received at the capitol, where it was read to a large part of the membership of both houses. It was commended for the breadth and scope of its 12,900 word analysis of the country's problems.

The president, touching on both foreign and domestic problems in a detailed way, expressed hope of success of the London naval conference; urged adherence by the Senate to the Root World Court protocol; advocated early adoption of the $180,000,000 tax reduction proposal; appealed for strengthening of the prohibition laws, which he considers inadequate; urged ratification of the $4,000,000,000 French war debt agreement; and reduction of expenditures for National defense among major projects.

No Tariff Solution

The message was regarded as inadequate in one major particular, and that a pressing and immediate issue, the tariff. Many members were disappointed that the president did not elaborate in a specific way upon what sort of a bill he wanted.

He did not indicate any further what he meant by "limited revision," but confined himself very largely to a restatement of the

JURY INDICTS TRAIN WRECKER

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—UP.—Thomas Vernon said to have confessed in Pawnee, Okla., that he derailed and robbed the Southern Pacific railroad's West Coast Limited near Sauvius, Calif., on Nov. 10, was indicted by the Los Angeles county grand jury late today.

No ball was set on the indictment which charged train wrecking, punishable by death, and three counts of robbery. Following return of the true bill, District Attorney Byron Fitts ordered extradition papers rushed to Sacramento for the signature of Gov. C. C. Young. The previous indictment did not identify Vernon.

Incendiary School Fire Perils Pupils

MENDOCINO CITY, Dec. 3.—UP.—What investigation may show to be another of the incendiary fires that have struck northern California towns recently, today destroyed the grammar school here with a loss of about $25,000.

The fire started in the basement at 1 o'clock, and 100 pupils in the five class rooms of the structure were marched to safety without panic.

Principal Clarence Nicks asked authorities to investigate the fire because of the recent blazes believed to be of incendiary origin that destroyed the high school and a church at Kelseyville, a church at Ukiah, and another church at Vallejo.

The schoolhouse fire here was the second fire disaster in Mendocino county during the day.

DYING MAN FOUND BY POLICE

Found huddled over the wheel of his car, John C. Campbell, 60, died at the Hospital Richmond last night from poison taken while driving his suicide to illness.

Campbell was found by Patrolman Jack Kynock of the Richmond police department. He was called by K. L. Knudson, 1420 Nevins avenue, who saw Campbell drive up to the curb in front of his home, crash into his parked car, turn off the motor of his closed car and collapse over the wheel.

Believing that Campbell was intoxicated, Knudson ran to Macdonald avenue where he found officer Kynock walking his beat. Kynock found no odor of alcohol on the man's breath.

Bottle Hunted

Calling patrolman M. H. Salisbury to his assistance, Kynock took the dying man to the hospital in Salisbury's machine. In spite of heroic efforts made by doctors, Campbell died without regaining consciousness.

In spite of a search of Campbell's car and the territory surrounding it, police were unable to find the poison bottle.

Officer Kynock reported that at seven o'clock last night he saw Campbell driving down Macdonald

More About Feminine Cattishness—When, As and If

WHY women used to be catty to one another, and why they no longer should be so—

As well as our honest belief that often, nowadays, they are NOT catty—were matters which we made into a FABLE a week ago.

Among other things, we quoted The Evening World's own Dore to the effect:

That it's bad technique, as well as bad sportsmanship, for one woman to criticize another to men—

And we heartily endorsed the sentiment.

Now we have just received from a man an interesting letter about feminine cattishness.

And the way it reacts on the male of the species—

If there are still women who think it makes a bit with men, let them read on:

"Generally speaking, what men have told me about women has been the most surprising experience of my life," writes Joseph E. Fabian.

"Except for what women have told me about women."

What men think about women is decidedly different.

From what women think about their own species—God preserve them!

"But listen, are women really catty?"

"It has often been observed that no one indulges in the pastime of pulling the leg of the Scotchman."

"More than the Aberdonians themselves."

"They love to tell stories against their race."

"Perhaps the same protective idea explains why it is that women so persistently write down their own sex."

"Regarding the cattishness of women toward one another."

"I observe that all the crotchets, fancies, and jealousies to which they are subjected."

"Are said by women themselves."

"They picture each woman as a sort of spiteful giant."

"That is full of envy and uncharitableness toward its fellow gnats."

"There is a general agreement that women hate to work under women."

"Cause of the petty pin-pricks and jealousies to which they are subjected."

"A man does not care how much his junior surpasses him."

"In looks, dress, or personal attractiveness."

"Young Reginald may be as handsome as Apollo."

"And dress as elegantly as Jimmie Walker."

"While his boss may be as ugly as Quilp."

"Wear baggy trousers and have an insufferable taste in ties."

"But if Reginald does his job, his boss does not care."

"How much he is himself outshone in the matter of trousers and ties and beauty."

"On the other hand, if Pamela makes her woman chief feel downy and physically inferior."

"She has to pay for the offense."

"By suffering a double dose of cattishness."

"(Editorial note: It occurs to us that one reason for this different attitude, when it exists, is that the Big Boss—the man who bosses Reginald's boss and Pamela's, will be quite unimpressed by Reginald's charming appearance."

But may be decidedly influenced by Pamela's."

And therefore Pamela's woman boss may see the girl promoted over her head."

This sort of thing has happened often enough, when the Big Boss is a man."

To give on occasions woman sub-bosses a prejudice against a too radiant Pamela."

But, continues Mr. Fabian:

"The animus of women against their own sex."

"Extends, it would seem, even to landladies."

"A famous English novelist has just been pouring out the vials of her wrath."

"Against the whole tribe of landladies."

"When she charges with being grossly unfair to women lodgers, as compared with men."

"Mrs. Gubbins, the landlady, can never do enough for Reginald."

"She will mend his socks."

"And put her own hot water bottle into his bed on a cold night."

"He may come home late."

"Telling nasty stories to disturb the household."

Capital Seeks Good Baggage Master to Prevent Dry Voting-Wet Congressman From Having Leaky Trunks

Wanted—An official Congressional baggage master, experienced in preventing leaking trunks and suitcases being delivered to "dry" Congressmen returning from Central-American junkets. Apply House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

There is nothing else to do.

It is getting so no wet drinking, dry-voting Congressman is safe from having leaky trunks in his possession. There is a conspiracy of some sort afoot to embarrass the men who vote for the Jones act penalties of five years and $10,000 against liquor law violations. The trunk dealers in Illinois are up in arms.

The impression has gone forth that only the trunks and suitcases of Illinois "drys" leak on arrival at customs offices, while those of Kansas, Iowa and Alabama "drys" seem to survive the rigors of baggage-smashing. The contention is that the Illinois "drys" use the standard brand of trunks and something else must be wrong.

First, it was Representative M. Alfred Michaelson of Chicago, who was exonerated and a relative took a jail sentence. Now it is Representative Edward E. Denison of down-State Illinois. Both were alleged to have had leaky trunks. Both were amazed that any charge of transporting booze should be leveled at them. Michaelson got out of his scrape. Denison probably will be acquitted.

The important thing, Washington feels, is that dry Congressmen who vote for laws to deliver the rest of the population into the hands of bootleggers, beer runners, speakeasies and the cover charge extortions of the night clubs, ought to be protected against having leaky trunks in their personal baggage when they return from junkets, at public expense, to the besotted and backward republics down the gulf stream.

The only solution Washington can envisage is that of having official Congressional baggage masters who will be on the job at the ports when "dry" Congressmen arrive and will make it their personal business to see that there are no leaky trunks or suitcases, included in the baggage of the "dry" members.

It is said to be next to impossible to prevent liquor laden trunks being delivered on perfectly proper and accurate baggage checks to the offices or homes of "dry" leaders who are embarrassed by Grand Jury acceptance of base innuendo of law violation.

A way must be found to pin responsibility on some one. Brothers-in-law and secretaries cannot be used always as alibis.

It would cost only $1,500 or $1,800 a year to have an official Congressional baggage master who would see that liquor laden trunks were handled gently and no contents broken. Not even the most rabid Coolidge "economy" proponents—who included Mr. Michaelson and Mr. Denison—would protest against that.

Moreover, there ought to be some sort of law requiring that dry-voting, wet-drinking members of the House should permit their wives to pack their baggage. No woman would make such a mess of a packing job as to have a bottle break and pour its contents right out in front of the law.

CURTIS TREATED UNFAIRLY

Helping the School Child

By Emilie Hoffman

PARENT is exceedingly dissatisfied with his son's report marks and seems inclined to blame the teacher. The lad explains his failure by saying the school companion sitting next to him bothers him so much that it is impossible for him to pay attention or perform his school tasks.

If this parent was wise he would know this defensive attitude is quite natural. When a child realizes his failure in school work he will look for an excuse and this usually is blaming some one else. Do not take the child's word for this. Ascertain from the teacher whether your son is really working under this handicap. She may have noticed it but your inquiry will make her watchful and she will remove the interference if it really exists.

It is a mistake to hold the teacher responsible for your child's failure. Every teacher is eager to have 100 per cent class rating and to get this she must be interested in the progress of the individual pupil. There would be no failures in her class if she could avoid them. The failure of the lad may be due to a lack of concentration and the teacher will know how to handle the case. She will, no doubt, do so, with home co-operation.

Low marks and failures in school are as discouraging to children as are failures in adult life. They keenly feel

The Beauty Shop

By Frances Oliver

WHEN a cold comes in the winter, it can have a careless nose and a sure at the same time.

No woman, be she the winner of beauty contests or the darling of the rollers, can have a careless nose and a sure at the same time.

If he is not too hygienic he may kiss you when you have the sniffles. But it won't be because he's a beast, it will be because he's a man.

"Just a little cold," you say. "Remember, it's equivalent to saying, 'Oh, just a red nose,' or 'Just a pesty skin,' or 'Just a total lack of pep.'"

There's a noble campaign afoot to do down the common cold. Doctors, statesmen, educators, everybody and anybody who has a care for human welfare are enlisting in a crusade against sneezes, sniffles and sore throats. Things that the lady, even as you and I, have been regarding all too frivolously.

Doctors know that the cold is a menace to life. Statesmen and educators know that it is a peril to social and industrial progress. And beauty specialists know that it does as much damage to the skin, the hair and the eyes as do the "beers" and more.

If you have a cold don't waste time trying to cure it yourself. Take it to one who specializes in such matters. There is a vast difference between the hot mustard home treatment and the modern physician's treatment as there is between modes of travel to and from Granny's time.

If you have not a cold—oh, rare and blessed individual!—then fortify your constitution against even the possibility of catching one. Build up resistance against the damaging germ through wholesome regular eating, sleeping and exercising. To be on the thoroughly safe side, you will do more.

You will call on your physician when you feel least in need of his services. Intelligent modern beauties of the stage and screen and drawing room divide the care of their loveliness between the family physician and the beauty specialist. To such women, whose chief business is to keep their looks at par or well above, a cold is a veritable calamity.

And so also let it be with us, for the sake of our feelings and our jobs, as well as our looks.

Some Uses of Soap

THE careful woman is quite particular what soap she uses in her household. For laundry and cleaning purposes she always uses a mild soap—one with no free alkali—to avoid injury to colors or finishes.

Soap in solution is more satisfactory because it cleans more evenly and safely than soap in a cake. Soap flakes and chips are convenient for this purpose and make suds so quickly that these products have become popular with housewives.

If you have a favorite soap, in cake or bar form, that you prefer to use you can chip it yourself, and the easiest way to do this is to rub it over the grater.

Thrifty housewives make soap because they consider it a good way to use up waste fat and bits of soap, but they usually use lye in making it, so home-made soaps are likely to contain free alkali and should be used with caution both on delicate and painted or otherwise finished surfaces.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alalfa Smith

LET me ask you this question: Are your arms so filled with small bundles that you cannot grasp a BIG bundle when it comes your way?

In other words, is your mind so cluttered up with little things that you cannot comprehend the BIG ones when they occur to you?

Are your decks cleared for action? Are you ready for the BIG event when it comes your way? Can you seize it without fear and trembling?

Have you a little money or much money tucked away where you can get it should another crash come in Wall Street?

Do YOU know what to buy in the way of securities? These are ticklish times, and I advise your asking yourself a FEW questions.

Cooking the Turnip

TURNIPS are a favorite winter vegetable, but they are usually spoiled by overcooking. This makes them dark colored and strong flavored. To summer turnip will cook in from thirty to forty minutes, but the winter turnip requires from forty-five to sixty minutes, and if full grown they may have to be cooked one and a half hours.

Turnips may be sliced, diced, chopped, quartered or cooked whole. They may be creamed or mashed and buttered and many housewives prefer to mash them with the potatoes. They may be served as croquettes or hash and they are used in meat stews and in soups. They are delicious stewed in milk thickened with butter and flour, seasoned with salt and pepper and served with the sauce.

What Society Is Wearing

MRS. DEERING HOWE WEARS A SMARTLY CUT MINK WRAP FOR COOL DAYS

A mink wrap of full length, cut with a wide rolling collar and deep cuffs is worn by Mrs. Deering Howe in the accompanying picture.

The manipulation of the skin is novel, the pelts running in contrasting lines on the collar, cuffs and bottom of the coat to form a border.

With the coat Mrs. Howe wears a small felt hat cut with slashed brim and ornamented by a cluster of brilliants. She carries a flat light fabric envelope bag, wears deep beige silk stockings and dark suede slippers edged in contrasting leather.

Mrs. Howe, who is always numbered among the smart folk at the races, will undoubtedly be in evidence tomorrow at the United Hunt meet on the Belmont track and if the weather be chilly it is probable that the wrap pictured is the one she will wear, for the vote for fur coats is always emphasized at the fall meet.

U.S. OPENS SUIT TO RECOVER OIL LAND

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—UP—The act of two dead presidents of the United States, Woodrow Wilson and Warren G. Harding today entered the government's suit to recover three oil leases in the Elk Hills Naval reserve and $15,000,000 from the Pan-American Petroleum company.

The leases were made to Edward L. Doheny by Albert Fall, Secretary of the Interior, during President Harding's term.

The two late presidents were mentioned during examination of the government's first witness, Edward C. Finney, former first assistant secretary of the Interior under Fall and at present a solicitor for the Interior department.

Wilson Named

He told of President Wilson's handling of naval oil leases then under navy department control and the subsequent order of President Harding transferring control to the Interior department just prior to the leases gained Doheny.

Just before Finney was called, former Secretary Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, government prosecutor of oil suits, announced that Fall was ill in Texas and probably could not appear. Chief Defense Counsel Norman Sterry said that Doheny possibly would be called.

Doheny recently disposed of the Pan-American holdings to the Richfield Oil company, but the status of the case was not changed.

Land Returned

The testimony today was mostly introductory. It reviewed the present action, involves three small parcels, 660 acres in Kern county and on the edge of the huge naval reserve which figured in a suit against Doheny and the Pan-American in 1924. In the case Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick handed down a decision returning 32,000 acres of land to the government and also $24,000 in cash, $12,000,000 in improvements and recoverable oil amounting to 600,000,000 barrels.

The defense claims in the present action that no fraud was perpetrated between Fall and Doheny, that the government made the oil leases to prevent drainage by wells of the Standard Oil company and that only one judgment for recovery can be legal for any act.

U. S. Oil Men United To Fight Foreign Groups

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—UP—Gobblers in the shape of foreign oil producers will snatch the world petroleum market from American companies if they don't watch out, Sir Henri W. A. Deterding, managing director of the Royal Dutch-Shell interests warned here today.

The statement was made to 300 delegates attending the American Petroleum Institute. Deterding hammered home his idea that the United States must stop wasting its oil reserves or foreign consumers will realize that the supply here soon may be exhausted and turn to Russia, China and Borneo to begin building a more permanent supply.

The institute wasted no time in following Deterding's advice. The unit pool plan, providing that American oil companies combine to withdraw only sufficient oil from fields to meet consumer's needs was adopted unanimously by its board of directors. The plan also looks toward reduction of the vast number of filling stations and pipe lines which eat into producers' profits without benefit to the consumer.

Dancer Again Takes Stand

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—UP—Eunice Pringle, whose accusations led to the conviction of Alexander Pantages on a charge of attacking her, appeared as a prosecution witness today in the trial of Garland Biffle, charged with giving perjured testimony in the Pantages' case.

The dancer denied Biffle's witness stand allegation that he heard her talking with Nicholas Dunay, her manager, in the Pantages theater building, shortly before the attack.

"Did Dunay say to you: 'Don't get cold feet, and did you reply: 'Don't worry, I won't. If he doesn't hook my act, he'll be sorry for it the rest of his life,'" deputy district attorney A. H. Van Cott asked.

Miss Pringle denied that she had been in the building with Dunay at the time specified or had over had the conversation.

COAST BOYS ON U. P. GRID TEAM

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—UP—The all-American football team for 1929—whose members lived up in every sense to the most rigid requirements of national greatness this season—has been named by the United Press with the assistance and advice of more than 200 coaches, officials and experts from every part of the country.

The team, one of the strongest ever chosen for such recognition, is made up of players who not only stood out as individual performers during the year but were of paramount value to their respective elevens from the first to the last.

The selections, based upon the studied advice of football experts from coast to coast, follow:

United Press All-American Team
Center—Ben Tieknor—Harvard.
Right guard—Cannon—Notre Dame.
Right tackle—Bronko Nagurski—Minnesota.
Right end—Joseph Donchess—Pittsburgh.
Quarterback—Frank Carideo—Notre Dame.
Left halfback—Merle Hufford—University of Washington.
Right halfback—Gene McEver—Tennessee.
Fullback—Ralph Welch—Purdue.

SECOND TEAM
Feeler—Ohio L. E. Douds, W. and J. L. T. Higgins—Alabama L. G. Heinicke—Stanford C. Schwarz, California R. G. Sleight—Purdue R. T. Schooner—Ark. R. E. Cope—Army Q.
Stennett—St. Mary's L. H. Gassow—Iowa R. H. Parkinson—Pittsburgh, F.

THIRD TEAM

The backfield of the all-American team won its place only after the closest study of the claims of the brilliant players who crowded closely upon its heels. Frank Carideo, Gene McEver, Merle Hufford and Ralph "Pest" Welch form a quartet whose qualifications for the first choice cannot be denied.

Frank Carideo, Notre Dame's quarterback and field general, was the brightest as well as one of the ablest backfield men to 1929. He was without a peer at directing an eleven and was unanimous choice as all-American quarterback. Hufford, who tore opposing lines to shreds on the west coast despite the fact he was playing upon an inferior eleven, stamped himself as the greatest ball carrier of the year. McEver was the back who spread devastation throughout the south while at blocking and all-around ability there was no more valuable or inspiring player than "Pest" Welch, captain of Purdue's unbeaten and untied eleven.

For an all-American line, one could ask no better wingmen than Francis Tappan of Southern California and Joe Donchess of Pittsburgh, both best from start to finish of a strenuous season. Tappan was easily the best on the coast, where great ends are developed each year, while Donchess was without a peer in the east.

The all-American tackles, Marion Hammon of Southern Methodist and Bronko Nagurski of Minnesota were mighty bulwarks in their respective lines, as well as devastating forces on the offense. Nagurski was one of the greatest all-around football players ever developed. Hammon, the tireless, destructive, impregnable type of ideal tackle.

John Cannon of Notre Dame was one of the reasons why the Irish came through unbeaten and untied, a savage, deadly tackler, a roving guard if ever there was one, and in most of his team's plays sweeping wide holes for his backs and stopping everything sent in his direction.

PRESBYTERIANS, LUTHERANS CAGERS WIN IN CHURCH LEAGUE

The First Presbyterian cagers defeated the Wesley Methodists 11 guard to 12 in the A division game on last night's Y. M. C. A. church league card. The Grace Lutherans rallied in the last quarter of the B contest to defeat the Community Methodists 25 to 19.

The contest between the Presbyterians and the Wesley Methodists was a continual succession of thrills. The odds were about even throughout the game. The Presbyterians and the Wesley Methodists are distinguished themselves as two of the fastest squads in the A division of the church league.

The Grace Lutherans captured the game with the Community Methodists by a fierce rally in the last few minutes of the fourth quarter. Both squads played a steady brand of basketball, but the Methodist passwork seemed to break up in the last quarter of the game.

The First Christians and the First Baptists will clash in the A division contest Friday night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium at 8:15 o'clock. The San Pablo Baptists and the St. Edmund squad will meet in the B game at 7:15 o'clock.

The starting lineup for the Presbyterians was: Spires (2), L. Bowman (2), forwards; G. Lemou (2), center; J. Morrison (7), running guard; C. Bowman, standing guard. The Presbyterian substitutes were: Goldworthy (1), forward; Buchanan, center.

The starting lineup for the Wesley Methodists was: Powell (4), Jewell (3), forwards; Black (2), center; Jenkins (1), running guard; Carlson (2), standing guard. The Methodist substitute was Scott, standing guard.

The starting lineup for Grace Lutherans was: Gillan, Rusich, (10), forwards; Armstrong (11), center; Wakefield (3), running guard; Mariola, standing guard. The Lutheran substitute was Baldwin (2), center.

The Community Methodist starting lineup was: Hillier (6), Johnson (5), forwards; Pimm (8), center; Hopkins, running guard; Woods, standing guard. The Community Methodist substitute was: Neeley, running guard.

Gold Found, No Rush As Of Yore

GRASS VALLEY, CALIF.—UP—A gold strike here in the old days was signal for scenes of turmoil and a rush to the "digging." But when contractors excavating for a gasoline tank pit at a new service station on a main street had struck "pay dirt" there was no excitement. The hole was completed and the tank lowered into position in order to comply with the builder's agreement to finish the job within 40 days.

Miners said the gold was a branch of a ledge known to exist, stretching across the town, and has been met before during construction work.

HORTON SMITH ELIMINATED IN MATCH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3.—UP—Only Horton Smith, the young Joplin, Mo., ace was eliminated from the favorites in the 36-hole first round of the National Professional Golfers association tournament here today.

Smith lost out to the able Craig Wood of Long Island, one up at the 27th hole, and Wood had to crack a birdie three to eliminate his brilliant opponent.

With Wood one up on the 35th hole, Smith staged a brilliant bit of play to even it up on the 36th. Wood's mashie shot landed square on the green while Smith was down in the hollow. His pitch out of the hollow stymied Wood and allowed Smith to hole out in a birdie four. Then Wood won on the next hole.

Leo Diegel of Aqua Caliente, Mex., defending champion, was outstanding for the day. He established a new course record when he did 18 holes in 64 strokes seven under par 71.

P. O. Hart of Wheeling, W. Va., had the misfortune to be his opponent and lost, 10 and 9. Most of the favorites still figure in the second round.

Walter Hagen made easy work of Bob Shave, the popular Cleveland player, 9 and 8.

Johnny Farrell, who won the National Open not long ago, eliminated John Golden of Patterson 1 up.

Fred Morrison, of Los Angeles, top man in the qualifying round, defeated the veteran Joe Kirkwood, of Philadelphia, 5 and 4.

Pairings for the second round in the National Professional Golfers' association tournament Wednesday:

Larry Nabholz vs. Al Watrous. Al Espinosa vs. Bill Melhorn. Nell Christian vs. Craig Wood. Henry Cuiet vs. Johnny Farrell. Tony Manero vs. Eddie Schultz. Walter Hagen vs. Charlie Guist. Herman Barron vs. Leo Diegel. Fred Morrison vs. Gene Sarazen.

LEGION URGES ARMY, NAVY FOOTBALL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. Dec. 4.—The National Executive committee of the American Legion, the governing body between national conventions, unanimously adopted a resolution at its recent meeting calling upon the United States Military Academy and the Naval Academy to resume their athletic relations on the football field to the extent of playing a game in 1930 on behalf of the disabled veterans of the World War.

The resolution follows: "Whereas, the American Legion through lack of sufficient funds is seriously handicapped in the rehabilitation of the disabled veterans; and

"Whereas, the American Legion is considering the promotion of a football game for the purpose of raising additional funds; and

"Whereas, the Army and Navy, through a disagreement have severed football relations a condition which is deeply deplored by the Nation; and

"Whereas, the resumption of the annual Army-Navy football game as a benefit for the rehabilitation fund of the American Legion would not only provide the assistance to the disabled veteran, but would revive sentiment, renew and carry on vital traditions and excite the unstinted admiration of the Nation in the spectacle of these two great institutions unselfishly forgetting their own differences for the benefit of their disabled comrades, now therefore

"Be it resolved, that the National Commander of the American Legion issue an invitation to the proper authorities of these two institutions to arrange for a 1930 Army-Navy football game at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, to be played solely for and in behalf of the disabled soldiers of America."

FREAK FOOTBALL PLAYS

There have been many freak plays in Yale-Harvard games. Many will recall the run that George Owen made at New Haven for a winning touchdown that started with a freak bound of the ball off Gekke's leg after a long rolling kick from Fido Kempton.

Then in the 1919 game at Cambridge an amazing one occurred. Harvard was leading 10 to 3 in the last period when Eddie Casey fumbled the ball on his own 25-yard line. Yale needed a tying touchdown badly—and here it was a gift. Three Yale men had the same thought as they rushed simultaneously toward the ball, with no Harvard man nearby.

So anxious were the Yale boys that they started elbowing each other out of the way. The Harvard stands applauded, no doubt, the skill with which they prevented anything but a mere recovery of the ball.

Six times Yale had the ball inside Harvard's 30 yard line and failed to score. On three of these occasions they pushed to a first down within the Crimson's five yard marker.

A fighting Harvard team saved the day five times, but a laughable freak added the Crimson to one. Wadsworth of Yale had plunged up to the 4 yard line for a first down. On the next play the entire Yale backfield dove across the goal line for what might have been a touchdown had they remembered to bring the ball with them.

It happened that each one thought the other was to receive the ball. They had dashed en masse off left tackle, leaving a beautiful passage for the ball as center Burch heaved a punt-like pass down the unprotected gridiron. This phantom pass floated on the November breeze for 25 yards, where Yale luckily recovered it.

HOOVER TELLS OF NATIONS PROBLEMS IN ANNUAL MESSAGE

principles enumerated at the outset of the special session. There was general accord with his plea for speedy action on the tariff, however.

The president, in his survey, saw only two dark clouds on the horizon at present, the stock market crash and the growth of organized crime and general disrespect for law.

Confidence Established
He expressed the belief that the measures he initiated to stabilize business have reestablished confidence, and that this situation growing from the stock market slump will be adjusted.

Warning against the increase of lawlessness, President Hoover appealed again, as he did in his inauguration address, for the citizen to obey all laws and not choose the particular laws he will obey. In his expansion program to stabilize business, the president urged an increase in public building appropriations and in annual expenditures for inland waterway development and flood control, all of which would help to absorb unemployment.

Tail Consolidation
Among other recommendations he made were railroad consolidation; clarification of ocean mail contracts to carry forward merchant marine development; reorganization of government departments with consolidation of all agencies dealing with World War Veterans Relief; revision of the immigration laws to meet the reduction of quotas as set by the national origin basis, which he opposed; consolidation of prohibition enforcement agencies; development of commercial aviation, highways, inland waterways, and new Federal prisons to relieve present congestion.

The program outlined by the president admittedly is far too broad to be carried out at this session and was received as a basis for the program to be carried forward during his administration. Briefly, the president's suggestions were:

Prohibition
Enforcement is not satisfactory due to inadequate organization. He urged transfer of all enforcement agencies from the treasury to the justice department, with control of industrial alcohol left in the treasury. The latter, a change from the original program, is to meet demands of the industrial alcohol industry. He also advocated simplification of Federal court procedure to relieve congestion, codification of prohibition laws, and steps to make the District of Columbia a model of enforcement.

Foreign Relations
The president urged entry into the world court, which, he said, "is, as now constituted, not the slightest step toward the league of nations." He announced he would submit the Root protocol to the Senate later.

"We hold high hopes that success may attend this effort," he said of the naval conference.

Finances
The budget for next year will be $3,830,445,231 as compared with $3,976,141,651 spent this year, but this does not include funds for the Federal farm board, which were $151,500,000 this year. The president predicted a surplus of $225,000,000 this fiscal year, ending next June 30, and a surplus of $123,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year 1931.

National Defense
Total National defense expenditures are "in excess of those of the most highly militarized nations of the world." The president recommended that "Congress give earnest consideration to the possibilities of prudent action which will give relief from our continuously mounting expenditures."

General Economic Situation
The country has enjoyed prosperity during the past year. Over-optimism as to profits brought the stock market crash, with the natural consequence of a reduction in consumption of luxuries. "Fortunately," the president said, "the Federal reserve system had taken measures to strengthen the position against the day when speculation would break, which, together with the strong position of the banks, has carried the entire credit system through the crisis without impairment."

Pointing to his business expansion program, which he said had restored confidence, he declared: "The measures taken must be vigorously pursued until normal conditions are restored."

Banking System
He urged a joint Congressional commission to go into the whole problem, studying the trend of "chain banking" and its effects, and branch banking, with the view to passing remedial legislation.

Electrical Power Regulation
He urged creation of a permanent Federal power commission, which is now composed of three cabinet officers.

Radio Commission
Reorganization of the radio commission into a permanent body was recommended. He urged abolition of the present system requiring appointment from five geographical zones.

CREW RESCUED FROM VESSEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3. — UP—A message received by the navy radio here tonight indicated all sailors of the British freighter Norwich City aground on Gardner Islands since Saturday had made their way ashore safely.

The report said the Norwich City had been totally wrecked by seas that were whipped by hurricane winds.

The message was from the Laevinsport port, a vessel that had hastened to determine the fate of the Norwich City crew.

"Sighted wreck and crew on beach," it read. "Working in connection with Norwegian steamer Lincoln Ellsworth with every prospect of saving life. Norwich City, total loss. Heavy surf over reef."

CAR FREIGHT GAIN

Automotive freight in 1928 exceeded 3,500,000 carloads, according to the California State Automobile association.

STEGE CHURCH TO BE MOVED

Steps are now being taken to move the building occupied by the Stege Presbyterian church to a new location north of Macdonald avenue. This decision was arrived at by a unanimous vote of that church last Sunday because of the growth of the branch Presbyterian Sunday school at Thirty-first street and Clinton avenue.

The plan was worked out by committees from the First and the Stege Presbyterian churches, in conjunction with W. Clyde Smith, executive secretary of the San Francisco presbytery.

The new $15,000 church at Stege, built a few years ago, will be moved to the district which has been served by the branch Sunday school, where it will take over that organization's activities.

The old building, formerly used by the Stege church will be remodeled for Sunday school use and will be conducted as a school in its present site at Stege.

SENIORS HOLD FROLIC AT R. U. H. S.

Graduating seniors at the Richmond Union high school ended a day of festivities, with a banquet program and barn dance last night in the community theater of the school.

More than 40 couples gathered at the banquet which was served in the school cafeteria. During the meal Albert Marshall entertained with feats of magic.

The group then adjourned to the theater where a program was presented. It included dances by Clarence Matthews, Eddie Ramey, Meredith Morgan, Jack Hosmer and Warren Brown, a skit "She's Not So Dumb" presented by Bob Peters and Clarence Matthews and a comedy dance by Albert Marshall.

The program was followed by a barn dance. The theater was decorated in keeping with the occasion and the dance was garbed in overalls and gingham gowns. Music was provided by a student orchestra.

The graduates started the celebration yesterday as soon as they arrived at school. They were dressed in anything from pajamas to nineteenth century hoop skirts. They gaily paraded across the stage of the high school.

The prizes awarded by the faculty to the boy and girl wearing the most original costume were won by Katherine Lamb, who was dressed in the garb of 50 years ago, and by Roger Douves, costumed as a dandy. Two large boxes of candy were the prizes.

The judges were F. C. Gilbert, William H. Negley, and M. S. Saint of the faculty. Almost 100 graduates contested for the awards.

A comedy skit entitled "Not Quite Such a Goose" was presented by the high senior class. The members of the cast were: The mother, Florence Frank; the 17 year old son, James Logan; Sylvia, Frances Perricone; Hazel, Mary Kosinski; Arthur, Fluck, Lawrence Theis.

RUSSIA RAPS U. S. PEACE NOTE

a government refusing diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union should appeal to it with "advice and instructions."

Simultaneously with its Kellogg pact note, the Soviet government announced that it's foreign office agent, Simonovskiy had signed a protocol with Tsai Yun Sheng, Mukden peace delegate for settlement of the railway dispute.

Both Moscow and Mukden agree to observe in the future all provisions of the treaty of 1924, which established joint ownership of the railroad.

Reviews Situations
In its notes to Washington, London and Paris the Soviet government released what it called China's violations of Soviet rights over a period of years despite Russia's voluntary renunciation of extra territoriality rights in China.

The violations culminated, the notes said, in Manchuria's seizure of the Chinese Eastern railway last July, forcing Russia to resort to defensive action.

Such defensive action was "in no wise a breach of the Paris treaty," the notes said, adding that the same could not be said for other powers who maintain gunboats and other forces in China.

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.25 to Rid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, they again.
